FALSE ALARM

C. C. Compton, manager of the city park, was burning brush there, Thursday afternoon, and someone seeing the smoke, and thinking one of the cabins was on fire, turned in an alarm. After a fast run to the supposed burning house, the firemen were greatly disappointed. Compton says he's just as sore as he can be, because he can't even build a camp fire on a rainy day without having someone put it out.

FRANK M. GOLD IS AGAIN CANDIDATE FOR CO. ATTY.

County Attorney Frank M. Gold announces this week that he is a candidate for re-nomination and re-election as county attorney.

Mr. Gold has administered this important office energetically and successfully. This statement is best borne out in the fact that during the one and one-half years of the present term that have elapsed he has prosecuted more criminals and secured more convictions than were prosecuted and convicted in this county in any two years preceding. It has been a busy term. The Schwab murder case, in which he secured what amounts to a life sentence for the murderer, Harry Nash, was the most important; but there have been numerous other convictions resulting in penitentiary sentences for malefactors of various degrees. He is fair in his work, not seeking punishment out of proportion to the crime, but is earnest in his endeavor to make the law respected. Since the death of his law partner and deputy, Mr. Harben, he has conducted the office without an assistant, preferring to do so as long as it may be possible, and keep expenses down. Mr. Gold has a good record, both in efficiency and in economy, to stand on in his request for re-election and this record is worthy of consideration by the voters.

Mrs. Clara Shannon of El Paso, the mother of Mrs. H. A. Davis, 515 Aspen avenue, is expected to arrive here today.

BAYETA STUFF

Joe Frohmler recently acquired a comparatively modern red bayeta blanket. Formerly the Indians made their blankets chiefly of white, black and gray wool, until they found a good and substantial red from a baize cloth made in England for the Spanish trade, and which was known to the Spaniards as bayeta. The Indians unraveled the threads, and then tightly rewove them, thereby making a better quality of cloth than the white men sold them. Indian bayeta blankets were often so tightly woven that they would turn rain, or hold water.

"Even blanket connoisseurs are of the opinion," says Frohmler, "that bayetas come only in red, but other colors in which they occasionally come are deep scarlet, yellow with a light brown tinge, gold, dull rose, deep violet and purple."

COCONINO TO BUILD GOOD ROAD TO FLAG

Within a short while motorists will be able to travel from Prescott to Flagstaff over a good road all the way, is the word brought here by Major W. W. Midgley, chairman of the board of supervisors and a candidate for the republican supervisory nomination. Major Midgley returned from Flagstaff Sunday to be present at the regular meeting of the board yesterday.

"The Coconino board informed me," he said, "that by July 6 crews will be put to work on the Rattlesnake cut-off, and the road will be put into first class condition. Thus travelers from Yavapai county can make the trip to Flagstaff, a distance of approximately 70 miles from Prescott by the new way, over a good, solid road via Rattlesnake tanks. This route will cut off between 15 and 20 miles which would have to be traveled over the road by way of Camp Verde."

Roads in Yavapai are also being put into good shape, Major Midgley declared. "The road to Iron Springs is now finished half-way, and will be completely finished within a short time. The road to Seligman where the county crews are now working, will be done in the next six weeks." — Journal-Miner.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

Colonel Power Conway was up from Phoenix for a few hours the last of last week, going over with Superintendent Robert V. Baker the paving project on the west end of Milton road, actual work on which is now well under way. Colonel Conway left Saturday for Winslow.

J. F. Walker, principal of the Normal training school, accompanied by Mrs. Walker and Margarette, with Clemmie Haws and Olive Diggs, went to Tuba City on Friday, to spend a few days with Vivia Walker, who is a stenographer in the office of the superintendent of the Western Navajo Indian school.

Harry Nash, in the state pen at Florence for the murder of Martin F. Schwab near here two years ago and who, it was reported here last week, was out of the pen on parole, is not on parole, but is sick in the prison hospital, according to Undersheriff S. O. Thompson of this county, who was in Florence last week.

Loren W. Cress, past exalted ruler of the local lodge of Elks and delegate to the Atlantic City Elks' national convention, left on Sunday for the convention, after which he will visit his old home in Kansas and bring back his wife and children, who are there visiting. Frances Decker and Jimmie Turpin have charge of the tailor shop in Loren's absence.

Mrs. E. F. Sharpless and two children stopped off here a few days ago on their way from California to their home in Ohio to visit Mrs. Sharpless' sister, Mrs. J. W. Simpson, of this city. She left again on Sunday, to visit her old home at Mountain Air, N. M., and took Mr. and Mrs. Simpson's little son, Claus, who will stay the rest of the summer at Mountain Air with his grandparents.

Not much impressed by our winning Sunday's ball game, and having completely forgotten that we were to have a Fourth of July celebration, Roger Morse gave all attention Monday morning when he came down town to a box of cigars from friends until they were all gone and he had to get another box. He mentioned, casually, that a most fine and bumptious little son had been left at his home the night before by a stork. Which completes the family, making a boy and a girl he and Mrs. Morse now have.

11:00 a. m. — Morning prayer and worship.
Rev. Archdeacon Jenkins will conduct the service.

THE FEDERATED CHURCH

We gladly welcome the great crowds of people attending our services these days. The church was full at both morning and evening service last Sunday. You bring us inspiration and we trust the hours of worship may prove helpful to you. The C. E. services were interesting, especially the Senior meeting led by Miss Day. Communion will be held Sunday morning. Everyone is invited to come and partake. Normal students and all other strangers will be welcomed to all our services.
W. H. ZOOK, Pastor.

Rev. Francis Bloy, rector of Saint Mark's church in Mesa, is planning to spend his vacation in Flagstaff during the last part of July and all of August. Rev. Bloy spent his vacation here last summer also, and helped organize our Rotary club.

Not able to remain away from Flagstaff during the big celebration, J. W. Simpson, James Mitchell, Steve Eck and Moses and Jacob Anspach came to town Saturday morning from Leupp, where they are working on the new government buildings.

Mrs. H. A. Lindstrom, formerly Miss Justine Johnson, who had been here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Johnson, since she and Mr. Lindstrom returned from California, went to Houck last week where she has taken up her old position as telegrapher.

Frank McLaughlin, son of Mrs. Ed. O'Farrell, is working again in the office of the Arizona Lumber & Timber Co. Frank had been in Washington, D. C., for about five years. His wife, formerly Miss Frances Baxter, a graduate of our Normal school, returned from Washington several weeks ago.

Stanley Sykes says the misanthrope that doesn't know how to fish needn't say there aren't any around here to be caught. He was told Oak Creek was all fished out, but a few days ago got the limit in three hours. Then he went to Lake Mary where he pulled out a lot of bass, among them one weighing two pounds, ten ounces.

J. A. Adams, assistant forest service supervisor, states that Baker's Butte station, edge of Tonto basin, near the top of Strawberry hill, has the furthest field of vision of all the lookout stations in this locality. From the butte, on a clear day, one can see as far as the White mountain to the east, as far west as Picochito Butte, beyond Kingman, and south almost to Mexico.

"Nevy" Smith and his wife and son came in Saturday, Nevly returning to his Canyon Diablo and Tolchaco trading posts next day. Mrs. Smith and son remaining here for the celebration. Mrs. Smith came here from Detroit only a few days ago and may decide to remain in the west. Nevly reports steamboat traffic greatly congested on the Little Colorado, one of the boats running over his foot the other day while he was trying to cut across its bows in crossing the river.

NORMAL NOTES

C. V. Ridgley, head of the music department at the state Normal, has got together a twelve-piece orchestra composed largely of summer school students. A fine glee club has also been formed, and it is hoped that a well known musical comedy will be staged near the end of the session.

Miss Rosemary Reinhold, who has charge of a number of classes in physical training and playground work during the summer session, recently organized a hiking club. Last week the members went to the city reservoir, and a trip to the top of Elden is planned for Saturday. Several people have expressed the desire to form a permanent hiking club, similar to the Sierra club of California, and the Mazamas of Oregon, as conditions for camping and hiking are nearly perfect in this section.

ROTES SING COWBOY SONGS WHILE ENGLISH PROFESSOR DIRECTS

fine result he obtained. Gaily colored paper umbrellas hung top downward under each of the four chandeliers, and were connected with colored crepe, while Shasta daisies and carnations in abundance graced the tables, with a carnation and a small silk flag for each member and guest. Of course, patriotic colors predominated. George also pulled a dandy program. Besides the two speakers named above, he brought Dr. A. J. Mackey, Joe Wilson, Sid Gassman and Ed Babbitt all to their feet with humorous readings.

President I. B. Koch, who started the meeting off, introduced the newest member, Francis A. Chisholm, who to Rotarians who don't want to be peremptorily fined, will be hereafter be known and acclaimed as Frank. He kept him standing, blushing, while he read a paregoric (something wrong with that word, but let it go.) Then, at Fred Lusk's suggestion, he gave him a book with the request that he read the opening chapter to the club. It turned out to be an infernal machine, with an internal contraption that caused a loud and sudden percussion when Frank opened the book.

Miss Nickel of Flagstaff and Mr. Hershey, ex-soldier student at the Normal-University summer school, the former at the piano and the latter with the violin, contributed syncopate harmony that made all who were not rheumatic ecstatically wiggle their toes.

Guests: A. W. Brown, Dr. E. S. Miller, Bob Koch, Frank Baptist of Phoenix, George Myers. Visiting Rotarians, Mr. Lomax, Harry Gray and John Brown of Phoenix.
